

Misha Adair, Andrew Boyle, and Ahmet Turkmenoglu met while earning their master's degrees in Jazz Performance at the University of Southern California and have since gone on to become some of Southern California's most in-demand young musicians.

Misha, Ahmet, and Andrew have performed with artists such as:

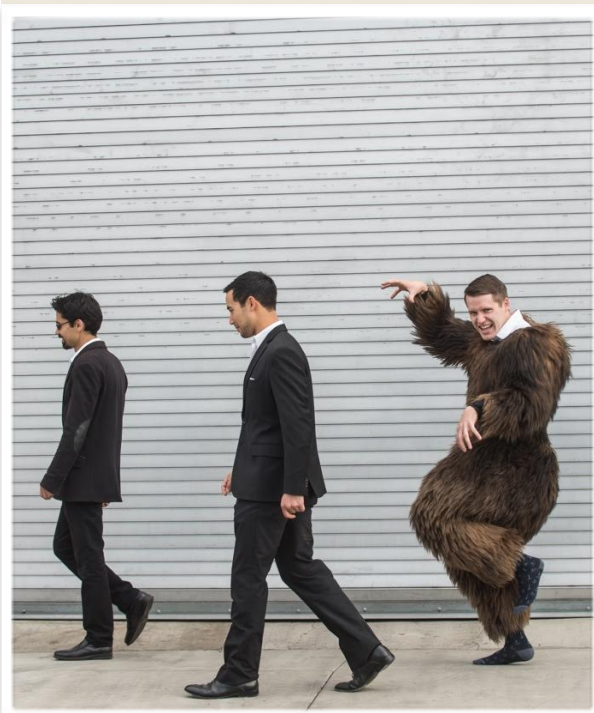

Kristin Chenoweth, Bruce Forman, Peter Erskine, Alan Pasqua, Otmaro Ruiz, The Coasters, and JMSN

Lead by pianist and vocalist Misha Adair, the Misha Adair Trio specializes in hard-swinging, crowd-pleasing, straight-ahead jazz and soul. With a repertoire of standards and catchy originals, their sound reflects the influence and legacy of artists like Oscar Peterson, Ray Charles, Diana Krall, Frank Sinatra, Mose Allison, and Donny Hathaway. The group's witty and irreverent stage presence belies their formidable musicianship, beckoning all listeners to enjoy the show.

MISHA ADAIR BIGOS

graduated from college in 2010, then worked aboard cruise ships for two years where he kept a nocturnal schedule, practicing throughout the night after entertaining cruise guests. In 2012 Misha moved to LA to earn his master's degree at USC. There he recorded with the Sophisticated Lady Jazz Quartet for Yarlung Records.

AHMET TURKMENOGLU

moved from Istanbul to Los Angeles in 2012 to earn his Artist's Diploma from USC. He soon began performing and recording with USC's renowned faculty and other legendary Los Angeles musicians. In 2015 he was invited to return to USC on full scholarship as a paid teaching assistant while earning his master's degree.

ANDREW BOYLE

studied at USC under the legendary drummer Peter Erskine, who praised him as "a major voice on the instrument." In addition to recording with the Sophisticated Lady jazz quartet, he continues to play with many of the LA's greatest musical luminaries. In 2015 he began touring internationally with JMSN.
